

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A display controller is provided which can control the display of a fast moving image with higher quality in an active matrix display apparatus DD.

When the display pattern of an image is controlled in a display apparatus DD constituted of a plurality of pixels S arranged in a matrix form, the pixel including a light-emitting device, an image is displayed by driving the pixels S only for predetermined illuminating period shorter than a vertical synchronizing period.